

Over the past 5 years, Square One Landscape Architects have successfully designed and optimised 120 public and private properties. From designing plazas for Redefine Properties to detailing urban parks for the City of Cape Town, we are the first choice professional partner for our clients. Here's why:

Planning with the professionals on big ticket items like capital assets has saved time, expensive mistakes and has ensured an impressive result for every single client.

As a tight-knit and innovative team, Square One Landscape Architects works across all scales of planning, urban design, architecture and engineering to produce plans and details that are integrated across an entire project. They are refined and stand apart from the rest for all the right reasons. Additionally our experience in Green Infrastructure design embraces the very latest in green technologies.

We now also offer environmental consulting services and can facilitate the environmental planning and approval processes required to guide your project through from conception to implementation. All of which is becoming critically important to our developers as they seek to out-perform their competition in the sustainability stakes while remaining compliant with local authorities.

Leaving the project managing of complex urban spaces and all that goes with that to experts is just plain good business sense.

Through a careful planning process we provide opportunities for design that unlock value for the site and its owner while avoiding costly and time wasting mistakes or abortive work.

So whether it's about your metropolitan open space, your residential estate, your school campus or a public park, our highly regarded relationships with local and provincial authorities as well as our experienced network of professional service providers will enable you to get your development approved quickly, in the best manner possible and for the process to unfold hassle-free.

Our range of services is highly valued as the "essential missing link" guaranteeing a real return on investment.

Always drawing on the social, cultural, historical and ecological resources of a site, our services include:

- Planning and Approvals: Environmental Impact Assessments, Environmental Management Plans, Visual Impact Assessments, Site Development Plans, Landscape Heritage Reports, Conservation Management Plans,
- Green Infrastructure: Storm-water management systems, water sensitive urban design, roof gardens, green facades
- Landscape Master Plans: Metropolitan open space systems, housing estates, wine farms, school campuses, nature reserves, river belts, public parks and waterfronts.

• Project Management: Through strategic planning and careful detailing, we are able to achieve the highest quality in workmanship while ensuring that our projects remain on schedule and within budget.

• Landscape Plans: Planting, hard landscaping, lighting, street furniture, streetscapes, urban squares and public plazas, garden spaces, public parks, play areas, sports fields

• Construction Drawings: Grading plans, irrigation plans, civil engineering and architecture, landscape structures and urban furniture

So if you're after a dynamic, attractive created environment offering a unique & memorable experience, entrust your next big project to the first choice professionals at Square One Landscape Architects—the end result will tell you it was worth it.
